Recommended Care and Maintenance

- Product should be stored in a well-ventilated area. It should not be stored or fitted in a damp environment.
- The recommended range of environmental conditions of storage and use is as follows: Temperature: 10°C - 40°C Humidity: 30% - 70%
- Avoid exposure of the product to direct sunlight (UV radiation) and other direct sources of heat.
- We recommend that our products are stored flat, especially larger doors and panels. Our products should not be stored directly on the floor area for any length of time.
- Although it should be avoided whenever possible, a limited number of boards may be stored vertically in racks with a support surface for the panels, so as to prevent warpage we recommend a minimum inclination of 10°.
- The panels must not be dragged on any surface that may cause deterioration of any of their faces. During all handling and machining it is essential to prevent particles, machined material and protective film residues or any other dirt from being caught between the pieces, since, with the cumulative weight of several panels, visible marks may be produced on the lacquered surface. This precaution is especially critical for high gloss coatings.
- It is recommended to remove plastic protective film (Zenit and Luxe) at final fitting stage.

Cleaning Advice

- For the cleaning of our products that we recommend a soft damp cloth with slightly soaped water. The Industry recommended solution of 1% liquid soap, and 99% warm water is recommended with immediate subsequent drying.
- Under no circumstances must harsh chemicals be used such as solvents, alcohol, ammonia, etc
- The protective film of the panels must be removed once installation is complete or a maximum of 6 months after delivery, in order to ensure that no adhesive residue remains on the surface.

Applications

- Our products are primarily used for vertical applications such as Kitchen and Wardrobe Doors, wall panelling, Living room furniture and bathroom furniture. We do not recommend there use as work surfaces. The information contained in this document does not relieve the purchaser and/or final user of the obligation to check the compatibility of the material with the planned use and installation.

Cultural Fusion

Zenit Basalt's blend of brown, purple, and grey adds vibrant depth, while Alhambra's subtle textures evoke rich cultural origins. Together, they create a harmonious balance of history and modernity, perfect for sophisticated, contemporary interiors.
